THE WEATHER.

Brownsville, Tex., July 25th, 1904.
Tonight and Tuesday generally fair, light to fresh westerly winds. Clear.

After Colonel Lott and his associates finish their road to Houston, it is understood that their plans for construction will have by no means been completed. The building forces will then go to the south end of the line and begin work in Mexico. The program there, is yet a mystery, so far as the public is concerned, but it is believed to embrace a line to Tampico and eventually the construction of additional connection which will reach Mexico City, giving the shortest route from St. Louis and Houston to that metropolis by some 200 or 300 miles.—Houston Chronicle.
